1: About Us

Access Further Education Limited ('The College') has subsidiary companies, trading names and trading partnerships through which it operates. The trading names and partnerships might have their own names or brands, but the legal entity for the purpose of this policy is Access Further Education Limited. Trading subsidiaries, trading names and trading partnerships include Access Creative College ('ACC'), National College for Creative Industries ('NCCI'), and Access Sport. The dBs Institute (DBS Music UK Holdings and its subsidiaries), whilst a separate legal entity, shares common Directorships with the College, however, responsibility for Health and Safety and related Policies within dBs falls to the Director of Estates for Access to Music Limited.

2: Policy Statement

The Group has an ethical and statutory obligation towards the safety, welfare and wellbeing of its staff, students, apprentices. For the purposes of this policy, the word 'student' and/or 'learner' covers all those engaged in learning or funded activity within the group including centre based learners (Further and Higher Education), apprentices, trainees, T-Level learners and work experience learners.

Access to Music Limited (and any other company operating within the group) recognise that risks to the health, safety and welfare of our employees and students are present in our day-to-day working environment.

There can be many obstacles in achieving good health and safety standards. These include the pressures of day-to-day workloads, performance targets, financial constraints and the complexity of the organisation. However, moral and legal obligations should always take priority.

The potential for a serious accident will always exist but good management and the implementation of safe systems of work can eliminate and/or control the hazards. By carrying out risk assessments we can measure potential risk of hazards and thereby take appropriate action. If any action or process is deemed dangerous or unsafe, we recognise that it must be dealt with immediately.

By implementing the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, (and the Health & Safety at Work (Northern Ireland) Order 1978) and in particular to Section 2 “General Duties of Employers to their Employees” and associated regulations, we seek to provide and maintain, as far as reasonably practicable, a safe and healthy working environment. We recognise that failure to comply with legislation could result in prosecution and penalties.

Section 2(3) of the Health and Safety at Work Act, (Section 4(3) of the Health & Safety at Work (Northern Ireland) Order 1978) states ‘it shall be the duty of every employer to prepare and as often as may be appropriate, revise a written statement of their general policy with respect to the health and safety at work of their employees and the organisation and arrangements, for the time being in force for carrying out that policy, and to bring that statement and any revision of it to the notice of all his employees’. This document is therefore available to all employees and third parties and covers all aspects of the Group’s operations.

This policy outlines who is responsible for key issues. It is recognised that in order to achieve the objectives outlined below, the active support of all employees, students, clients, contractors and members of the public is essential.

Access Creative College is a leading organisation in its field, is committed to health and safety ‘good practice’ and is constantly striving to improve. Where, as part of Company contracting arrangements as a sub contract partner, a health and safety issue arises which relates to the conduct of that contract or clients, learners or staff participating in the activity, the Company will provide such appropriate details and reports to the lead/prime Partner as necessary for the effective management of the issue/contract.

This is a declaration of the individual company’s intent to provide and maintain, so far as reasonably practicable, a safe and healthy working and teaching environment and to enlist the support of employees towards achieving these ends. It is our policy to develop a positive health and safety culture throughout the organisation because we believe that high health and safety standards are a prerequisite in the pursuit of company efficiency and competitiveness. To achieve this we will, where reasonably practicable, progressively identify hazards and take appropriate measures to eliminate or control risks to employees and others affected by our operations by applying positive control standards and provision of information, training and supervision as needed.

Employees, students and others are reminded that they have a duty to ensure that the company's Health and Safety Policy is observed and in particular they are required:

- To take reasonable care for their own health and safety at work and of those who may be affected by their actions, or by their omissions.
- To cooperate with the college to ensure that any duty, or requirement, for health and safety imposed upon their employer by law is performed or complied with.
- Not to intentionally, or recklessly, interfere with or misuse anything provided in the interests of health, safety and welfare.
- To report to supervisory staff, or the safety coordinator/manager, hazardous conditions or defects in the company safety arrangements.

The company recognises that it has the ultimate legal responsibility for health and safety policy formulation and implementation. Accordingly, the undersigned director accepts overall responsibility. In turn, all levels of management and all supervisors are responsible for carrying out health and safety systems prescribed in this policy. The Chief Executive will ensure that the safety plan includes sufficient resources for the successful implementation of the health and safety policy and management systems.

Where appropriate, the appointed employee(s) responsible for the health and safety management systems within the company, as appointed from time to time by the Board of Directors will carry out the monitoring and review of the company's health and safety management policy. Development of the health and safety policy and management systems will be continuous. In addition to this, normal business meetings will give health and safety equal standing on the agenda.

The company will appoint competent persons to assist the company directors to implement this policy. These persons are to provide independent and authoritative advice to managers with individual responsibilities for health and safety.

Jason Beaumont
Chief Executive Officer
